General Information

Conference description and goals

This conference is designed to provide current information on emerging therapies in cancer care, including the exploration of new modalities in cancer research and treatments. Topics will encompass genomics, innovative therapies, treatment issues, and survivorship. The conference will highlight a unique presentation by a cancer survivor who expresses her cancer experience with drama and humor.

The goals of the conference are to:

- Explore the role of genomics in cancer.
- Examine current research utilizing the measles vaccine in cancer treatment.
- Provide an update on new lymphoma therapies.
- Identify patient compliance issues related to oral targeted therapies.
- Illustrate the personal impact of a cancer diagnosis.

Date and location

The conference will be held Wednesday, September 12, 2007 at Phillips Hall, Siebens Building, Mayo Clinic, 100 Second Avenue Southwest, Rochester, Minnesota.

Guest faculty

Jean F. Jenkins, PhD, RN, FAAN, earned a BSN from the University of Maryland, MSN from Catholic University of America, and PhD from George Mason University. She is a clinical nurse specialist consultant at the National Cancer Institute, National Institutes of Health, responsible for clinical trial development and implementation including biomedical and nursing research, and senior clinical advisor of the National Human Genome Research Institute, National Institutes of Health. Jenkins also provides consultation for the integration of genetics into clinical research, including genetic testing and prevention studies. Her current studies focus on outcomes of genetic testing for persons with hereditary non-polyposis colorectal cancer (HNPCC); chemoprevention for HNPCC; the genetics of smoking; and the diffusion of innovation.

Jonna Tamases grew up in Northern California and started performing in grade school. She attended Columbia University and Stanford University, and then honed her comedic skills with various sketch and improv groups in San Francisco. In Los Angeles, Tamases has been in plays, television shows and movies, and writes and performs sketch comedy with ACME Comedy Theater's Main Company. Diagnosed with Hodgkin's

Disease, then large-cell lymphoma, then breast cancer, Tamases had to put her creative dreams on hold while she endured intense radiation, chemotherapy, and surgery. Now cancer free, she has a passion and joy that is infectious. She has turned her experience into a strikingly original, funny, incredibly uplifting one-woman show, "Jonna's Body, Please Hold." The highly acclaimed show was nominated for two Ovation Awards: Best World Premiere Play and Best Lead Actress.

Target audience

The conference is designed for nurses, social workers, and other healthcare professionals interested in the care of individuals with cancer and their families.

Participants can earn up to 6.0 accredited nursing contact hours for the conference. Accredited hours are now calculated as 60 minutes rather than 50 minutes.

Mayo Continuing Nursing Education has been designated by the Minnesota Board of Social Work as an approved continuing education provider. This conference fulfills requirements for 6.0 continuing education hours.

About the sponsors

Mayo Clinic is committed to advancing the knowledge and skills of healthcare professionals. Mayo Continuing Nursing Education conducts educational conferences that will advance nursing practice.

The mission of the Mayo Clinic Cancer Center is to promote and facilitate basic and clinical research on the incidence, etiology, and progression of cancer, and then through education and direct application of the results of such research, translate the discoveries into improved methods for cancer prevention, detection, diagnosis, prognosis and therapy. The ultimate goal is to relieve the burdens of illness in individuals with cancer.

Lodging

Rooms have been reserved for conference participants and their guests at a convenient hotel location. To ensure accommodations, make your reservation by mail, telephone or fax by Wednesday, August 22, 2007. Reservation requests received after this date will be accepted on a space available basis.
